

Professors, attorneys, administrators, consultants, and graduate students can keep informed, improve their legal literacy, network with peers, benefit their students, and advance their careers through membership and participation in the Education Law Association

A practical, reliable, and unbiased source of information on education law for nearly 65 years

ELA's Mission

To promote interest in and the understanding of the legal framework of education and the rights of students, parents, school boards, and school employees in primary, secondary, and post-secondary institutions.

Since July 2013, the Education Law Association has been headquartered at Cleveland State University's Cleveland-Marshall College of Law in Ohio.

Members' ELAdvantages

Our diverse professional community—which includes attorneys, public and private school administrators in K-12 and higher education, faculty and graduate students in colleges of education and law, school board members, and consultants—anticipates trends in education law and supports scholarly research through high-value print and electronic publications, conferences, seminars, and professional forums.

Reduced Annual Conference registration fee

For decades, our annual conference has brought together professionals interested in education law and provided a forum to discuss current issues with experts in their fields. Earn CLE credits, make contacts, and enhance your resume by being a presenter.

Special membership rates for groups, retirees, and students

Multiple individuals from the same institution may qualify for a group rate. Retired memberships apply to retirees who were regular members of ELA for 15 years. Student memberships may be held for up to three years by active students taking 6-plus credit hours.

Members save 35% on most ELA print publications

ELA publishes economical and informative print and ebooks on education law topics, written by distinguished leaders in their fields. These are commonly used as textbooks, case references, and as legal information sources for administrators. Visit the bookstore online at educationlaw.org, or see the publications catalog for a complete list of our publications. ELA ebooks are now sold through Amazon.com.

Free admission to live webinars, access to archived webinars

Members receive free admission to webinars addressing timely topics (nonmembers pay $99 per computer).

Publishing opportunities

Write or co-write a book, chapter, or monograph; prepare a First Amendment Perspectives or Education Law Into Practice (ELIP) article for ELA Notes; serve as a reporter writing case summaries, or write a longer Case Commentary article for School Law Reporter.

Members-only access to information resources

- Member emails featuring the School Law Blog, by Mark Walsh, contributing writer to Education Week
- Periodicals including School Law Reporter, featuring case summaries and recent Supreme Court docket, Case Commentaries, plus an annual Index of Cases, and ELA Notes newsletter (online and/or print format) with peer-reviewed ELIP articles
- SLR Express database of case summaries on the ELA website, plus a Membership Directory
- Significantly expanded offerings for members are regularly added to our recently updated website

Be sure to renew your membership each year, and tell your colleagues about the many ELAdvantages!
